How Slavery Debauches its Victims.

We append a telling description of one of the evils of slavery as given by a soldier of the 104th Pennsylvania. Whoever can read it, knowing that it is only one of shousands that can be written, and still defend and seek the preservation of the "institution," is lost as well to the dictates of reasen, as to those of humanity. The soldirr saw whereof he writes, as well as all who were with him, and details his impresions in a style of simple and touching carnestness. After some introductory remarks he continues:

The One Thing Needful.

The One Thing Needful.

Diffysigians, with a unanimity that is truly remarkable, now recommend to their patients the use of Dr. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, as a preventive against all sorts of weakness. They give tone to the system, by purifying the blood, and invigatating the digestive apparatus. Mothers who are nursing, and old men find them invaluable. They should be introduced into our Hospitale, and if they were more generally used among our soldiers, all camp disenses would disappear. These Bitters have heen before the public over fifteen years, and their popularity is still on the increase. Their reputation is known in every country upon the globe, and in fact they are country upon the globe, and in fact they are more universally used than all others. We do not urge any one to take these Bitters, who imagine that no benefit will be derived therefrom, but this we do know, that those who have used them, would not be without them for the Beware or Counterpets.—As Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is the only sure and effects and remedy in the knewn world for the permanent ourse of Dyspep in and Debility, and no there are a number of imitations of Ierei to the public, we would caution the community to parchase some but the genuine article, manufactured by S. A. Kankel, and his stamp on the top of the cork of erony butte. The very fact that others are attempting to imitate this valenthe remedy, proves its worth and speaks volumes in its favor.

The Bitter Wine of Iron is put up in 15 cent and $1.00 bottles, and sold by all respectables Druggists throughout the country. Be particular that every hottle beers the fac simile of the proprietor's signature.

CERTIFICATE OF A. K. M'CLURE.

CHAMBERSTER. May 17, 1864.

ROBERT BLOCK, Loo. Dear Sir: I lave thoroughly tested the Tread-power in running all kinds of Machinery about the Barn, and I have had the most approved Lever-powers tried at my flore aiso, and I unhesitatingly recommend the Tread-power. I run all my machinery—thresher and cicaner, corn shelier, chepping-mill, fudder-enter, and circular saw, with a two-borse Tread-power, and the power is ample and two horse can give the same if not greater power than four own with the lover-power, and the labor is no sacce severs on the lawses. In short, I regard the Tread-power, as having every advantage over the Lever-y farmers.

Very Respectfully, yours, &c.

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

Destruction of the Alabama. Scarcely an event, except that of a decisive victory won in the field by one great armics, could have brought more pleasure to the loyal heart of the nation than that which our foreign advices reconthe destruction of the Robel pirale Biesmer Alubama by the United States gunheat Keatsage. The point of regret in this brilliant affair is that the destruction of the entire pirate crew was not as complete as that of the ship, and especially that Semmes, through a despicable trick on the part of the commander of the British Jacht Deerbound, was enabled to obtain the protection of the Euglish flag. The Alabama, under the command of Semmes, has proyed upon our commerce for more than two years past, and has destroyed millions of dollars worth of prop-Sceaking from port to port, availin himself of the quasi neutrality of foreign nations, always heretofore cowardly running away from our aimed vessels, Semmes has burned some sixty-odd peaceathe vessels, carning the reputation of a pirate without its yould reward, and whilst demaging our commerce has not in the least aided Robel cause. · Under what peculiar influence he abandoned this course of destruc-tion against vessels unable to resist, and sought a coulliet with the Kearsage, it is diffigult to conjecture. Most probably he had grown disgusted with the bad noteriety that had gathered round his same, and, not cutirely dead to the instincts of a gentleman, sought by a bold deed to retrieve his repu tation. If he conquered and sunk the Kearsage, or took her as a prize of war, the success would hide the infamy of his enroer; if he failed there was still the credit that belongs to a bold and daring act .-Whatever the motive, however, the result has been reached. Though the Alabama was in size a match for the Kearsage, and in speed somewhat her superior—her armament being undoubtedly the best that sympathizing England could furnish, she appears to have made but a weak defence agamst the Kearsage. In two hours after sho left Cherbourg harbor, where there was no doubt a great collection of the Southern sympathizers who foully auticipa-Alabama riddled with Yankee shot sunk, or man killed, returned to Cherbourg, welcomed in triumph by the loyal Americans gathered there

Of the Alabama's orew, nine were killed, twenty-one wounded, and two drowned eight were captured by the Kearsage, and the remainder including Semmes, were rescued by an Loglish yacht. Semmes in a published account of the engagement, after the Alabama struck her flag. Capt. was a pirate and deserved to be so treated. The fight was a gallant affair, and the victery is hoportant, not only in chearing the age on our commerce, but also for its effect in vincienting the prestige of our Navy abroad.

The New York Commercial's Paris correspondent says that Semmes was ordered of weather, but for repairs, which it would take months to complete. Semmes finding it impossible to stay, and knowing that the Kearsage was waiting for him, sent her commander a challenge, which was promptly accepted.

There was not the ghost of a change for the Alabama at any time during the light. Men engaged in privateering are not able to stand before our well-trained marines and sailors in deadly fight. The Alabama after being disabled, was sunk by a broad side which tore through her water hae -The Kearsage was not seriously damaged.

A demand will be made upon the British Government for the rendition of those picked up by the yacht.

Sad Death. ' A inclaucholy accident occurred on the evening of the 30th ult., resulting in the almost immediate death of George Cardner, ted soon seeing her back in triumph-the of Latimore township, this, county. He was about returning a corn sheller belonging whilst her gallant opponent, scarcely in-jured by the contest, and with not an officer destination, one or poor them, one of the contest, and with not an officer destination, one or poor them, one of the contest, and with not an officer destination, one or poor them. destination, one or more teams came along the State road, and in endeavoring to make room, the horse made a sudden jerk, throwing the sheller and Mr. Gurdner violently to the ground, the machine striking him on the breast, and producing injuries on other parts of his body. He lived but a few moments after. He was in his 69th charges the Kearsage with continued army year; was deaf and down, and of weak Winslow, who dominanded the Kearsage the farm, and was therefore useful to those mind, but was able to do ordinary work on with whom he resided.

The substance of the news we have been able to gather from the many reports amounts to this:--On Sunday week, July 3d, General Sigel's forces were attacked at Leetown, a small village near the Bakimore and Ohio Reilroad, between Harper's Ferry and Martinsburg, and were overpowered by superior numbers of the enemy, and compelled to retreat. General Sigel also, after some resistance, evacuated Martinsburg and crossed the Potomac and moved his forces to Maryland Heights. The encmy then communeed crossing the Potomac on Sunday night at Williamsport and vicinity, and during Monday crossed over large forces of infantry and some artillery, and these went into camp near the river on the Maryland side. The cavalry commeneed moving over the country stealing horses and plundering. They entered Hagerstown and levied a tax upon the town of money and clothing, and it is reported they received $20,000 in money and 15,00 suits of clothes. They afterwards burned the Hailroad buildings and some Government stores, which had been left in the town. The cavalry scouts were as far north as Leitersburg and Smithtown, and then scarolted the mountains for horses, passing neress them in an easterly direction through Wolfsville and coming into the valley in Frederick county, about Lewistown, and near Mechanicatown and Creagerstown .-This is as far north as their scoats have been. They discovered hundreds of horses hid through the mountains and appropriated them. They pillaged stores, and in some instances robbed persons.
